

President's Message

Greetings.

First of all, and following the elections that were held earlier this year—see below for details—I would like to welcome Parvaneh Pourshariati, our new President-elect; as well as the following new members of the Board of Directors, Vahe Boyajian, Snjezana Buzov, Stephen Dale, and Sunil Sharma. I also want to take this opportunity to thank the outgoing Board members, Shahzad Bashir, Roya Fazaeli, and Mirjam Künkler, for their contributions.

I am happy to inform you that the ASPS Conference originally scheduled for Hyderabad last January has been rescheduled to take place at Mawlana Azad National Urdu University (MANUU) in the historic city of Hyderabad, January 4-8, 2011. Our hosting team in Hyderabad, led by Prof. Salma Farooqui of MANUU, is hard at work preparing for the event in Hyderabad itself, while the members of our conference committee, consisting of Said Arjomand, Habib Borjian, Jo-Ann Gross, and Parvaneh Pourshariati, are busy finalizing the panels. I would also like to thank Houchang Chehabi and Pardis Minuchehr for their involvement in preparing the program.

Meanwhile, we have secured generous subventions from the Iran Heritage Foundation and the Roshan Center for Persian Studies at the University of Maryland, College Park, and are anticipating further funding from the Indian Cultural Council. Our fifth biennial conference promises to become an exciting event. You should plan to arrive on January 4th, when registration and an opening reception will take place in the evening. Panels will meet the following three days, January 5, 6, and 7. We hope to offer an optional excursion to nearby Golconda on January 8. ASPS will provide four nights of accommodation, food and excursions during the conference days.

Also, those who require an official letter of invitation in order to get funding from their home institutions, please ask me, and I will be happy to send one.

I would finally like to invite all of you to attend the ASPS business meeting at the Middle East Studies Association (MESA) conference in Washington D.C. on Dec. 1, 3-4 p.m. (see below for more details.)

With best wishes,

Rudi Mathee

A BRIEF PROFILE OF MANUU ASPS BIENNIAL CONFERENCE HOST INSTITUTION

The Maulana Azad National Urdu University (MANUU) was established in 1998 as a Central University at Hyderabad. This special initiative taken by the Indian government was primarily meant to provide opportunities in higher education at a national level to Urdu learners and speakers. MANUU's vision to provide access to quality education through Urdu as the medium of instruction serves as a road map to fulfil its mission of empowering the socially, economically and linguistically disadvantaged sections of society. The university offers dual modes of education both through regular and distance streams. It has 6 Schools of Study divided into 14 teaching departments, 2 Directorates and 6 special Centres. The various programmes on offer through regular and distance mode range from Ph.D, M.Phil, Masters, Under Graduate, Diploma and Certificate level. Further, MANUU has established its Polytechnic Colleges and ITIs through which vocational education is imparted at headquarters and in certain regions. Colleges of Teacher Education, Model Schools and Regional Centres spread across India give the university a pan Indian character. There are several schemes run by the university that provide special coaching for competitive examinations. Despite striving to promote its aim of social justice by educating the Urdu speaking population in India which comprises a sizeable number and has its own special requirements, the University's vision for the Twenty-First Century is not just local, rooted in the regional communities but is global in its scope of networks of intellectual contact. The university is more an intellectual space, underpinned by cutting edge instructional technologies, values, ideas and academic pursuits along with a good well developed campus infrastructure.

Brief Profile of Host Committee

Prof. Mohd Suleman Siddiqi an eminent scholar of Islamic Studies has varied academic and administrative experience. He was not only the former Vice Chancellor of Osmania University but also has held additional charge of Vice Chancellor of Dr. B.R. Ambedkar Open University, Hyderabad and was I/C Vice-Chancellor of the Telangana University, Nizamabad, and Mahatma Gandhi University, Nalgonda. He is also the founder registrar of the Maulana Azad National Urdu University. He is well traveled the world in connection with several paper presentations at national and international conferences and high level delegations.

Prof. Husain Yasin Siddiqui is presently Honorary Advisor to the Vice Chancellor of Maulana Azad National Urdu University, Hyderabad. He served as the head of the Department of Social Work at Jamia Millia Islamia University in New Delhi, India. He was also a consultant to the United Nations International Drug Control Program, and the IPEC International Labor Office. He is considered an international expert on social welfare and social development in India, Pakistan and Bangladesh. He has been a Fulbrighter and an eminent academic with a specialization on the Muslim perspective of social development and women's issues.

Prof. Amina Kishore a senior faculty of the Department of English at the Aligarh Muslim University has held the position of Principal at the prestigious Women's College of Aligarh Muslim University for several years. She later joined the Maulana Azad National Urdu University, Hyderabad as Head of the Dept of English and also became the Dean of Languages, Literature and Indology from where she retired recently. An eminent academic as well as an endearing academic administrator she held several positions of eminence in both universities throughout her academic career.

Dr. Salma Farooqui is an Associate Professor of History at the Directorate of Distance Education, Maulana Azad National Urdu University, Hyderabad. Her resolve to look at the past afresh with a questioning mind has led to several research publications which include three books and several papers. Her presentation of papers at many national and international seminars and conferences include one at the University of Cambridge, U.K, UCSB and New York University's off-shore campus in Florence. She was also selected for the Study of the United States Institutes Program on Religious Pluralism hosted by the University of California, Santa Barbara, U.S.A.

Announcements

MEMBER NEWS AND ANNOUNCEMENTS

In September 2011, three panels were held on “New Sources in Safavid Studies” at the 7th European Conference of Iranian Studies at Jagiellonian University in Krakow, Poland. These focused on adab & governance, orthodoxy & ethnicity, and socio-economic history. These panels will be supplemented by a second section of pre-organized panels in August 2012 during the 9th Biennial I.S.I.S. Conference in Istanbul, Turkey. These panels will focus on new sources for the study of advice literature (akhlaq) as well as aesthetics in the Safavid period.

Peter B. Golden's Central Asia in World History (Oxford-New York: Oxford University Press) appeared in 2011. He has also retired from the directorship of the Middle Eastern Studies Program at Rutgers University.

CERF

CENTRAL EURASIA
RESEARCH FUND (CERF)
CALL FOR APPLICATIONS
Deadline January 15, 2012
(Please note revised guidelines)

CERF grants support original research leading to the publication of a book or monograph concerning Persianate culture by individual scholars from Afghanistan, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Tajikistan, Uzbekistan, and Northwest China. Grants do not exceed US $1500 and provide funding for the following: publication costs for a book or monograph, technical equipment necessary for specific research projects, such as computers, printers, scanners, voice recorders, or digital cameras; travel expenses for archival research that will directly result in an original book or monograph. The deadline for receipt of electronic submissions is January 15th of each year. Awards are announced on March 1st. The award period is for one year.

CERF does not support the publication of periodical articles. The publication of previously published works, including translations from English, will be considered only in exceptional circumstances when the applicant can demonstrate a critical need for such a work. Applications for projects based on original archival or field research and those leading to the publication of previously unpublished manuscripts, lithographs, documentary sources or material culture are strongly encouraged.

Eligibility

A minimum degree equivalent to a B.A. Grantees may only reapply for a CERF Grant after five years from the receipt of a previous CERF award.

Selection

Awards are made once a year. An ASPS evaluation committee reviews applications. Every effort is made to provide regional balance in the distribution of grants based on:

- Importance of the topic
- Academic merit and originality of the proposed project
- Demonstrated career commitment to the field
- Feasibility of the project
- Potential impact of the research
- Adequate academic and professional experience of the candidate

Application

CERF candidates must submit a typed electronic application in MS Word format by January 15th to the Director of the CERF Committee, Dr. Jo-Ann Gross, at gross@tcnj.edu.

For Application Procedures and Materials visit: <http://www.persianatesocieties.org/content/CERFfund.htm>

Employment & Fellowship Opportunities

LANGUAGE LECTOR -- PERSIAN

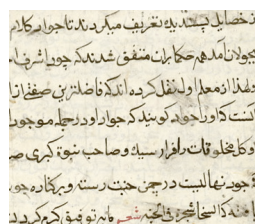

Multi-year appointment with the Department of Near East Languages and Civilizations, Yale University, New Haven, CT, USA

Yale seeks a full-time Lector in Persian language beginning July 1, 2012 for a three-year term, with possibility of renewal. Primary duties include teaching five courses per year, these including elementary (2 courses) and intermediate (2 courses) in the target language using an integrated skills approach. The fifth course will focus on literary, social, political, cultural and/or sociolinguistic topics related to the target language (as determined on the basis of the appointee's qualifications and expertise). The Lector will advise students and participate in program building in the Department of Near Eastern Languages and Civilizations, developing the broad curriculum and the pedagogic materials for the target language. He/she will also participate in organizing overseas language courses and provide relevant support for federally funded Foreign Language and Area Studies (FLAS) Fellowships.

Applicants must have: 1) native or near-native fluency in the target language; 2) strong English communication skills; 3) experience in teaching the target language as a second language in a college or university environment, ideally in the U.S.; 4) an M.A. or other advanced degree in a relevant discipline (e.g. applied linguistics or teaching Persian as a Second Language); 5) demonstrated ability and enthusiasm for Persian language instruction. Further desirable characteristics include some expertise in second-language teaching/acquisition, knowledge of overseas language and related study sites, experience with technologically-aided language learning methods and their development, interest in the broader field of Persian and Iranian Studies and/or other relevant disciplines and regions. Salary is commensurate with experience and background.

Review of applications will begin on October 15, 2011, and continue until the position is filled. Please complete cover letter, application, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching philosophy, proof of teaching excellence (e.g. student evaluations), and three letters of recommendation at <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/Yale/nelc>. Submissions by regular mail are possible, inquire for address to nelc@yale.edu. Yale University is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer; applications from women and minorities are encouraged.
